FRIENDSHIP, LOVE. AND TRUTH. VISITING ODD-FELLOWS-THE PARADE-

WELCOME ADDRESS-BANQUET, SENTI-MENTS, SPEECHES-FAREWELL AND AU REVOIR. In October last the Odd-Fellows' lodges of Richmond and Manchester, in response to an invitation from their brethren in Petersburg, paid a fraternal visit to that city. They were received with the bountiful hospitality for which the little Cockade stands preëminent, and which has made its name as a household word all over the length and breadth of the Old Dominion. Not only was every wish gratified, but anticipated, and the brethren brought back with them to their homes fragrant memories of their visit which will be joys forever. But this kindness was not to pass unre-riprocated, and at a joint meeting of representatives from all of the Richmond and Manchester lodges it was resolved to tender to the brethren of Monroe and Appomattox odges a banquet and reception, and last night was decided upon as the time. Yesterday evening at 64 o'clock Jefferson,

Friendship, Roane, Union, Fitzbugh, Aurora, and Schiller Lodges of Richmond, and Henderson and Stuart Lodges, in a body, or each largely represented, assembled at Levy's Hall, and proceeded to the Petersburg depôt.

THE SPECIAL TRAIN FROM PETERSBURG eached the city about 7:20 o'clock, bringing with it about eighty-five of the mempers of Monroe and Appomattox Lodges, of that city. The arrival of the Petersburg brethren was greeted with loud cheering, and there was a general hand-shaking and congratulations.

After a few preliminaries the line was formed, with Past Grand John C. Teller as chief marshal, and Past Grands A. A. Spitzer, John Stamper, David Beattie, F. T. Isbell, A. D. Shotwell, J. W. Fergusson, and George F. Haynes assistant marshals, and proceeded to Seventh street, up Seventh to Main, up Main to Third, out Third to Broad, down Broad to Governor, down suit for the foreclosure of its mortgages, and into the lodge-room of Friendship

> THE ADDRESS OF WELCOME AND RESPONSE As soon as the line had filed into the odge-room, and order restored Past Grand Master Courtney, chairman of the Commitee of Arrangements, introduced Past Grand Master Edward H. Fitzbugh, Past Grand Representative, who extended a handsome and fraternal welcome to the guests of the evening.

Past Grand Dr. Thomas Withers, of Monroe Lodge, responded appropriately and eloquently on behalf of the visiting brethren. After this the formal ceremonies were concluded, and the visitors and the Richmond members of the craft spent an hour in social converse, in singing, and in listening to excellent impromptu speeches from various gentlemen. THE BANQUET.

About 10 o'clock Grand-Marshal Teller gave the order to fall in for refreshments. The line was formed, and to the inspiring music of Kessnich's band marched to the banquet-room, on the second floor. There were seven tables, and plates were laid for four hundred persons. The supper was gotten up by Dodson of the American, and was in the highest style of the culinary art. siding there also—an indictment was found by the same grand jury against A. W. Vaughan, of Petersburg a finite of the culinary art. and domestic fruits.

At each table were some half-flozen efficient waiters-members of the orderunder the immediate supervision of an assistant marshal, and every want was supplied and every wish gratified. After a blessing by Past Grand Vanderslice, some time was spent in the enjoyment of the toothsome edibles, of which there was a superabundance.

SENTIMENTS AND SPEECHES. Past Grand Courtney announced as the first toast, "The Cockade City," coupling with it language complimentary to its sons and daughters, and speaking particularly of it as a stronghold of Odd-Fellowship, which had given to the order in Virginia seven grand masters and two grand representatives.

Other sentiments were responded to by juring one suit of clothes, was required to Past Grand Master E. B. Branch, of Petersburg; Past Grand Master A. L. Hill, o Harmony Lodge, Norfolk; Judge Oldfield and Dr. E. C. Robinson, of Lafayette Lodge, No. 9, Norfolk; W. K. Walsh, of Petersburg; Messrs. Quin, Knight, and otherrs, of Myrported a WINE superior to any in the country, and nine lashes for stealing one heifer from the Lodge, of Fredericksburg. Past Grand Badger responded to the special toast to Monroe Lodge, and Past Grand Archer to that of Appomattox Lodge. All of the speeches were timely and appropriate, and were full of fraternal love, and breathed the deepest devotion to the cardinal principles of the order. Richmond was represented by some of her oldest and most distinguished Odd-Fellows, and Petersburg, Norfolk, Ports- Thomas H. Robinson, Charles Crostick, and mouth, and Fredericksburg contributed their quota of brethren, many of whom have grown gray in the good cause, and others younger, but who bid fair to rival in good works their honored predecessors. Letters of regret were read from Grand business of importance to the department Master Thomas J. Talbotf, of Danville; Deputy Grand Master J. A. English, of Fredericksburg; Past Grand Master J. H. Waters, of Staunton; Past Grand Representative Robinson, of Lynchburg; Judge at the July term, and sentenced July 16th Goolrick, of Fredericksburg; and Myrtle be resumed next Monday. Lodge, of Fredericksburg. This lodge, however, was most worthily represented by the gentlemen mentioned above. The speaking was continued until after midnight, and it was about 1 o'clock A. M. when the Petersburg visitors embarked on their homeward trip, amid the cheers of their Richmond friends.

The display of fire-works by Aurora and Schiller lodges was very fine. The entire occasion was enlivened and rendered more pleasant by some of Kessnich's best music. There can be but little doubt but what the visit will be productive of great good. The firm friendship between the Odd-Fellows of Richmond and Peters burg will be cemented but the stronger, and a fresh impetus will be given to the onward progress of that glorious order, whose prin-
